My career goals is to use the skills I have learned to enrich or better others lives using the design techniques that I have learned. I want to do be a part of a team that is passionate about learning and making cool things.

Who I Am

I am a open minded person who enjoys the chalange of breaking the mold. I enjoy Football, Gaming, Fishing, Hiking, and genral pop culture.

I value trust, open mindedness, determination and treating others with respect. I demand more from myself than I do of others and believe that colaberation is the great tool

I believe that most problems can be solved by admiting that there is a problem and being open to learn and research.
